

In this edition of Recommended Reads I have offered some suggestions for books you could buy as gifts for Christmas or order from the library to read over the festive season. The age recommendations are guidelines and I suggest you look at other reviews to see if the book would be good for your child.

Peanut, Butter and Crackers by Paige Braddock: There are several books in the series and are a great introduction to the comic style graphic novel. Ages 5-7

Harklights by Tim Tilley: To say Tim Tilley has a way with words is an understatement. In his debut novel he will entrall you with the story of Wick and the Hobs. Ages 9-11

Solve Your Own Mystery by Gareth P Jones: choose which twists and turns this book will take by making the story your own and choosing which chapter comes next. Ages 7-9

Rabunzel by Gareth P Jones: Funny, and familiar. Fantastic picture book. Ages 4-6

The Hatmakers by Tamsin Merchant: Follow the story of Cordelia Hatmaker and her young friends as they try to uncover the mystery of the makers. Ages 8-11

★ BOOK CLUB RECOMMENDS! ★

The Nothing to See Here Hotel by Steven Butler: Funny and friendly this hotel is like no other! A slightly longer read for some children but a great step into the world of chapter books. Ages 6.5 -9

The One Stop Story Shop by Tracey Corderoy: Or anything by this wonderful author! She tells a funny tale and uses great vocabulary. We love her! Ages 4-6
